Thirty-four extraordinary entrepreneurs, business thinkers and philanthropists from around the world share the key advice they give to their grandchildren to help them build better businesses, enjoy better lives and make the world a better place.

Between them they have advised governments, served start-ups to Fortune 500 companies, won awards and acclaim, written 38 other books and been featured by Forbes, Inc, The New York Times, CNN and the BBC.

And in this book they give you: the most important business, life and world lessons there are to learn; the insights that will make things better for you, your family and everyone; and the shortcuts that make it easier, along with the pitfalls to avoid.
